Rejoice, rejoice, "He is alive again."

"Was lost, but is found."

Under date of July 9, 1881, E. B. BARNETT, of Windsor Locks, Conn., writes a plain, modest narrative, which, from the very simplicity, has the true ring of fact. He says:

"My father is using Hunt's Remedy, and seems to be improving; in fact, he is very much better than he has been for a long time. He had been tapped three times. The first time they got him sixteen quarts of water, the second time thirteen quarts, and fully as much the third time, and he would constantly fill up again every time after he had been tapped, until he commenced using Hunt's Remedy, which acted like magic in his case, as he began to improve at once, and now his watery accumulation passes away through the secretions naturally, and he has none of that swelling or filling up which was so frequent before the functions of the kidneys were restored by the use of Hunt's Remedy. He is a well known citizen of this place, and has always been in business here."

Again he writes, November 27, 1882—

"I beg most cheerfully and truthfully to state, in regard to Hunt's Remedy, that its use was the saving of my father's life. I spoke to you in my previous letter in regard to his being tapped three times. It is the most remarkable case that I have ever known of. For a man of his age (sixty years) it is a most remarkable cure. He had been unable to attend to his business more than a year, and was given up by the doctor."

"The first bottle of Hunt's Remedy that he used gave instant relief. He has used in all seven bottles, and continues to use it whenever he feels drowsy or sluggish, and it affords him the most reliable relief. He is now attending to his regular business, and has been several months. I am perfectly willing that he should publish this letter, as he is thoroughly convinced that his life was saved by using Hunt's Remedy, and that facts given above may be a benefit to others suffering in like manner from diseases or inaction of the kidneys and liver."

The Flooded Region.—TOLSON, Feb. 18.—The flood below the city broke this morning. The huge masses of water had fallen rapidly, and by daylight the water had fallen five feet. The river is now comparatively free from ice, and is still falling. In its outward passage the flood carried away the remainder of the wreckage at Cherry street, an additional span of the Pennsylvania Railroad bridge, and the Union bridge, which connected the city with the north side. The bridge was used as a transfer between the east and west, and by various railway companies. Damage to the Wheeling and Lake Erie bridge, two miles down the river, is also reported. Small craft lying at the docks were torn from their fastenings and carried down as far as the foot of the bridge, but no serious injury to shipping has yet occurred. As the course of the stream is now unobstructed, and the river is fast approaching its natural stage, no further trouble is likely to occur. The loss to the city and railway companies by the destruction of the bridge is very heavy. The water was lowered ten feet from the highest mark, which was twenty-six inches above that of 1881. The widening and Lake Erie bridge, which was twenty-six inches above that of 1881, was used as a transfer between the east and west, and by various railway companies. Damage to the Wheeling and Lake Erie bridge, two miles down the river, is also reported.
